BUS 609 Leadership in Political, Social, and Economic Contexts

Semester: Fall, 2015
Instructor: Dr. Steve Joel
Address: 5524 S 88th St
Lincoln, Ne 68516
402-525-3221-cell

E-mail: sj592002@yahoo.com
        stephen.joel@doane.edu

NOTICE – This class will meet:
November 2, 9, 16, 23, 30, December 7, 14

Course Description:

This course will examine the changing role of leadership and leadership approaches in the 20th and 21st Centuries. Emphasis will be placed on the impact leaders have had on the political, social and economic issues affecting the United States and, to a more limited degree, the world. In order to develop an understanding of the impact leadership has had on lives today, students will explore the social, political, economic and intellectual issues of the past and connect them to the issues and challenges faced by leaders today.

Texts:
Course Objectives:

At the conclusion of the course, each student will be able to:

1. Identify and define the characteristics, behaviors, and traits most commonly ascribed to successful leaders in the US and the world as they met the challenges of the 20th and 21st centuries.
2. Understand the impact leaders have had on the social, political, and economic issues of their time.
3. Understand the social, political, economic and intellectual issues facing leaders and how those challenges were successfully or unsuccessfully navigated.
4. Develop and evaluate requirements for leadership training programs to prepare the next generation of leaders for the challenges of the future.

Session 1:

1. Discuss course policies, procedures and requirements.
2. Negotiate class schedule for the semester
3. Review of leadership terms and understandings.
4. Discuss biographical reading assignments
4. Reading assignments and information gathering for class presentations.

Session 2:

1. Leadership in a social context—what events have altered the manner in which we behave and/or act?
2. Assignments for the next class.
Session 3
1. Leadership in an economic context—what events have altered the manner in which we conduct our lives in a business sense?
2. Assignments for the next class

Session 4
1. Leadership in an educational context---what events have altered the manner in which we view education?
2. Assignments for next class

Session 5
1. Leadership in a political context—what events have altered the manner in which we view politics?
2. Assignments

Session 6:
1. Leadership in the context of power and greed.
2. Assignments for class

Session 7:
1. Leadership in the context of internal and external conflict and disagreement.
2. Assignments
Session 8:

1. Leadership in the context of religious and civil strife.
2. Assignments

Session 9:

1. Student presentations

Session 10:

1. Final Exam

Course Requirements:

1. Attend all class sessions and participate in and complete all class activities.
2. Participate in class discussions. Graduate students should seek a high level of involvement in their learning.
3. Complete all required reading.
4. The compilation of a weekly leadership log from course readings and discussions in which leaders and/or leadership issues are categorized according to the contexts of their leadership and effectiveness (i.e., social, political, economic and intellectual).
5. The completion of a one page profile of a leader in each of the class discussion areas:

   a. Social
   b. Economic
   c. Education
   d. Political
   e. Power and Greed
   f. Religious/Civil strife

   Three of the 6 must be historical and three contemporary.

6. The completion of an in-depth study (research, personal interview) of a local or state leader that focuses on their leadership accomplishments and influences presented in the context of the study concepts of the course.

7. Completion of a final assessment.