5. Resolution of international disputes: methods of resolution. Dispute resolution within the WTO. International litigation and alternative dispute resolution.

Learning and Teaching

The course will be delivered using a mix of self-study and lectures/discussions. The instructor will lead each meeting on basic legal principles. In addition, each individual student is required to prepare and participate as a co-instructor by becoming a subject expert (using a chapter chosen from the Kline book) to present.

The discussion format will involve identification of current legal issues on the subject lead by the instructor. The presentation by each student will involve a pre-reading of the chapter topic and preparation of a 30 minute Power Point as a “guest lecturer”. The topics and presentation order will be assigned during the first class meeting.

The teaching and assessment strategy will allow for the delivery of the learning outcomes outlined below.

Learning Outcomes

On completion of this course students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the legal principles relating to the global business environment
2. Demonstrate an awareness of topical legal issues relative to the global business environment.
3. Research and interpret materials relating to this area of legal issues
4. Think critically with regard to legal problems within the field of global business.
5. Understand the nature of legal liabilities, public and private in the global context

Grade Assessment

The course is assessed by means of an in-class presentation (a presentation by each individual student) worth 30% of the overall grade, and a research paper worth 50% of the overall grade. The presentation will assess students’ understanding of legal issues and principles. The research paper will consist of an individual essay on the topic below. During the first class meeting the paper requirement will be discussed in depth. Both pieces of coursework will assess all the learning outcomes for the course. In addition, two smaller analysis memos will be assigned at the beginning of the semester and the two memos account for 20% of the overall grade.

Assessment Criteria: Relevant and adequate research using a variety of sources, with clear and concise explanation of the legal issues with reference to the relevant sources of law:

- Appropriate structure and presentation.
- Critical analysis of issues raised.
- Ability to reach conclusions supported by findings and analysis.
- Appropriate referencing and bibliography.

Essay Topic

“Internet Freedom as it relates to Global Communications” - After gaining an understanding of the subject matter, do additional research and write a ~3,500 words (10-12 pages) essay to analyze the problem at hand related to global internet freedom and control. Look at the problem from a global commercial perspective but use the same format of your in class presentation in terms of discussing whether there is Contest of Actors, Contest of Principles, Forum Shifting and Modeling, etc.

 Class topics may be adjusted based on class progress
