Course Description: This course provides an overview of the history of Vietnam, of the Vietnam War, and of 1960s America. Students will be introduced to the various movements for cultural, political and social change in the United States during the 1950s and 1960s, will examine the history of Vietnam, and will approach the years of U.S. engagement and conflict in Southeast Asia from multiple and interdisciplinary perspectives.

Course Objectives: Students will gain an understanding of the history of the Vietnam War in both its Vietnamese and American contexts, focusing on changes both at home and abroad. Examination of topics such as imperialism, anti-war protests, and political developments in Vietnam and the United States before and during the war will allow students to demonstrate an understanding of a complex period in U.S. and world history, and how the Vietnam War and the events of the 1960s continue to influence contemporary events.

Required Texts: There are two required texts for this course. It is your responsibility to complete all assigned readings. The books below are available for purchase at the Doane College Bookstore.

COURSE POLICIES
Not following directions can and probably will mean a deduction of points from assignments and from your final course grade, so it is your responsibility to read and understand the course policies and requirements. If you have any questions about the information below, please make an appointment to speak with me as soon as possible.

I. Academic Integrity: All of the academic work you complete at Doane College must be completed independently and must be entirely the result of your own intellectual, research, and writing efforts. Plagiarism, cheating, passing off other students’ work as your own, or any other kind of academic dishonesty, will not be tolerated. Do not, for any reason or under any circumstances, plagiarize or cheat.

II. Course Attendance Policy: You are required to attend all classes and course related events. Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class meeting as well as for events that take place outside of class time. If you absolutely need to miss class, please contact the instructor beforehand.
