The Doane College Faculty Handbook is designed to supply information to faculty and staff concerning faculty structure and general operating procedures of the college. It is supplemented by the College catalog for academic information, the Student Handbook for student information, and the Employee Handbook.

Changes to the Faculty Handbook may be proposed by the Faculty Affairs Committee, any duly constituted faculty or institutional committee, an individual faculty member or College administrator, the President, or the Board of Trustees. All proposed changes, except those pertaining to structure, functions, and functioning of standing committees, shall be submitted to and reviewed by the Faculty Affairs Committee for its consideration and recommendation before being forwarded to the faculty for action. Matters concerning structure, functions, and functioning of standing committees shall be sent to the Steering Committee.

Upon approval by a majority vote of the faculty, amendments shall be presented to the president for prompt transmission, with his or her recommendation, to the Board of Trustees for its consideration and possible final action. If, after such transmission, the board has no objection to any such proposed amendment, it will be deemed adopted at the end of the Board’s next regular meeting. Notice of any objection or the deemed adoption will be given by the Chair of the Board to the President and the Vice President for Academic Affairs, who will communicate the result to the faculty.

The Faculty Handbook is intended as a codification of existing legislation and administrative policy ratified by the faculty and approved by the Board of Trustees. The Faculty Handbook, while dealing with employment and procedures, is not intended to provide any assurance of continued employment and should in no way be construed as an employment contract.

This edition of the Handbook contains revisions adopted by the faculty during the 2014-2015 academic year.
