I. COLLEGE ORGANIZATION AND GOVERNANCE

A. HISTORY AND PURPOSE OF DOANE COLLEGE

For more than 140 years Doane College has occupied a distinguished standing among the liberal arts colleges of the Middle West. The impetus for its development came from the Congregational Church, the pioneer in higher education in Nebraska, which founded a college at Fontenelle near Omaha, Nebraska in 1858.

In 1871 when the church opted for a new site, the college was relocated in Crete. Although given a new name, Doane College, and a new charter, the relocated institution was in reality an extension of the first college. Thus, it not only parallels the development of Southeastern Nebraska, but predates statehood, which occurred in 1867.

Doane College was incorporated on July 11, 1872, as a nonprofit institution with an independent, self-perpetuating board of trustees. The college is authorized to conduct all the affairs considered essential to the liberal arts enterprise wherever it is carried on, including teaching, research, academic study, and granting of degrees.

The college was named in recognition of Thomas Doane, Esq., whose unflagging interest in the institution, until his death on October 22, 1897, earned him the distinctive title of "primus inter conditores Colegii Doaniian." Translation: “First among Doane College builders.”

Doane has maintained its relationship with the Congregational Church, which, through merger, is now the United Church of Christ (UCC). It is the representative institution for the Nebraska, Rocky Mountain, Kansas-Oklahoma, and South Dakota conferences of the UCC. The council is made up of church laymen, and through it, the council and college together explore the paramount issues and ideas facing the educational community. Doane College, although founded by Protestants, is open to all students of every denomination as well as to persons who profess no formal religion.

Many faculty members do research, publish articles and books, and engage in other kinds of professional activities. Doane College demands a high level of teaching and a constant search for ways to improve and strengthen teaching and learning.

B. MISSION STATEMENT

The following Mission Statement was adopted by the Board of Trustees on February 25, 2011.
Doane College’s mission is to provide an exceptional liberal arts education in a creative, inclusive, and collaborative community where faculty and staff work closely with undergraduate and graduate students preparing them for lives rooted in intellectual inquiry, ethical values, and a commitment to engage as leaders and responsible citizens in the world.

CORE VALUES

The following core values were endorsed by the Board of Trustees on February 25, 2011.

Community: Doane is an engaged and cohesive community comprised of individuals and smaller communities, in which everyone can contribute and participate.

Empowerment: Doane encourages its community members to take initiative – to act effectively and ethically by making principled decisions and taking responsibility for them.

Excellence: Doane sets high standards of teaching, scholarship, service, and leadership.

Impact: It is the heart of the Doane experience. At Doane, one can make a positive difference on oneself, on others, on the environment, and on life.

D. THE FACULTY

1. Faculty Categories

There are two categories of faculty employment on the Crete campus: tenure-track and nontenure-track.

a. Tenure-track employment.

Full-time faculty on a tenure-track have either a tenure, probationary, or terminal contract for employment full-time for ten months each academic year. While the primary responsibilities for all faculty are organizing, delivering and evaluating various learning opportunities for our students, full-time faculty also have responsibilities which include student advising, service contributions which enhance campus life and learning, and scholarly efforts which promote and assess learning.

Normally tenure requires a terminal degree. In most disciplines that is an earned doctorate, such as Ph.D., J.D., Ed.D., D.B.A. or D.M.A., except disciplines where the following master’s degrees are considered as terminal: Accounting – Master’s in an appropriate business-related degree with CPA, and Art, Theatre, and Writing – MFA. In extraordinary circumstances where other qualification meet program exigency, the Vice President for Academic Affairs may approve an alternate degree upon the request of the appropriate division. While every effort is made to hire faculty with terminal degrees in hand for tenure-track positions, in cases where a faculty member is hired while the terminal degree is still in progress, the degree must be completed by the end of the third year, or the faculty member will be moved to a terminal one-year appointment at rank of lecturer.

Following Immigration Service and State of Nebraska Department of Labor directives, a non-citizen may not be extended a tenure-track contract if in the United States on a limited visa. No contract may be extended or implied for a period which exceeds the dates of visa validity.

b. Nontenure-track employment: Term and Practice Appointments

Term-appointment faculty:

Term-appointment faculty have a full-time contract for employment for a limited period of from 1-3 years, normally as visiting faculty at rank if they possess a terminal degree, or as lecturers if they do not possess a terminal degree or are completing one terminal year after being removed from a probationary contract.

Practice-appointment faculty:

Program exigencies may dictate the hiring of non-tenure-track faculty, other than lecturers, whose practitioner expertise, rather than terminal degree, makes them the best candidates for the advertised position. Practice faculty members are colleagues holding the rank of instructor or above without being tenured or on a tenure-track. While the primary responsibilities for all faculty are organizing, delivering and evaluating various learning opportunities for our students, full-time faculty also have responsibilities which include student advising, service contributions which enhance campus life and learning, and scholarly efforts which promote and assess learning. The hiring of practice faculty will be initiated by a Division or School and will be approved by the Vice President for Academic Affairs. Librarians with faculty status will be considered practice faculty.
Term-appointment and practice-appointment faculty have access to the college’s benefit package when eligible. Term- and practice-appointment faculty have both a voice and a vote in the faculty governing body.

c. Adjunct Faculty employment.
Adjunct faculty are part-time and have a limited contract for employment, usually by academic term. Part-time employment is limited to:

i. student contact responsibilities of less than 20 hours per week and less than 1000 hours per year. These time limitations include any required office hours and include total hours worked on all Doane College campuses or instruction sites.

ii. voice and vote in the faculty governing body, provided they meet the handbook criteria of teaching a minimum of six credits per semester or its equivalent. [Further definition is provided below in I.D.2.3]

iii. Social Security and Worker’s Compensation benefits.

2. Membership
Criteria for membership in the faculty governing body:
1) occupancy of a “key” administrative post, determined by membership on the Cabinet;
2) pursuit of an essentially educational task;
3) teaching of a minimum of six credits per term.

3. Academic Divisions and Departments
The academic divisions of the college are the following, with major programs and disciplines listed:

Academic Information Services – faculty in Library, instructional technology, and information retrieval

Economics and Business – Departments: Accounting, Business, Economics

Education – Departments: Education and Physical Education

Fine Arts and Humanities – Departments: Art, English, Journalism and Media Studies, Modern Languages, Music, Philosophy and Religious Studies, Theatre; program in Communication Studies

Science, Mathematics, and Information Science and Technology – Departments: Biology, Chemistry, Information Science and Technology, Mathematics, Physics; programs in Biochemistry, Environmental & Earth Sciences, and Physical Science

Social Science – Departments: History, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology; programs in International Studies, Law, Politics, and Society, Leadership, Public Administration, and Social Science

4. Division Chairpersons

a. Selection
Each division shall select a colleague with the rank of associate or full professor by secret ballot to recommend for the position of division chairperson. Confirmation is made by the Vice President for Academic Affairs in consultation with the President. Normally, chairpersons serve renewable three-year terms. Through consultation of the division faculty and the Vice President for Academic Affairs, however, terms of service may vary from one to three years. Election for the divisions should be conducted in the spring prior to the end of the term of service and should be staggered to preserve continuity among division chairs.

b. Responsibilities
1) To assist in identifying budget needs and priorities and in monitoring the annual budget of the division;
2) To participate in appointing, evaluating, and retaining faculty;
3) To develop and implement divisional planning;
4) To participate in college-wide planning by representing the division and overall faculty on the planning team;
5) To assist faculty members with teaching effectiveness, curriculum development, and course scheduling;
6) To consider student requests for exception to academic policy in terms of major and minor course requirements and decide whether such requests shall be approved.
7) To perform other duties as required by the division.

These responsibilities are carried out in consultation and cooperation with the Vice President for Academic Affairs.

The Vice President for Academic Affairs will also convene regular meetings of the division chairs as a group for the purpose of gaining divisional perspectives on college-wide matters. The President of the College will attend these meetings as appropriate. Other individuals may be invited to attend as necessary.

Responsibilities of division chairpersons as a group:
1) Respond and make recommendations on administrative and educational matters presented by the Vice President for Academic Affairs and/or President of the College;
2) Bring administrative and educational questions to the attention of the Vice President for Academic Affairs and/or President;
3) Receive and evaluate reports from the Vice President for Academic Affairs, President, and/or Vice President for Financial Affairs on the design, construction, and site of new buildings and on all major maintenance projects and alterations of the campus and buildings;
4) Review issues involving divisional and departmental organization and appointments, and submit suggestions to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and President of the College;
5) Report to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and President on matters of long-range planning;
6) Report to all faculty in each respective division on matters discussed by division chairpersons as a group.

d. Evaluation
Performance evaluation is conducted at the end of the agreed term by the Academic Vice President in consultation with the membership of each division.

each faculty member who serves as a division chair will have release time of at least one course per semester or additional compensation.
5. Academic Departments

a. Departmental Organization. In most instances, academic divisions are organized around departments. Each department should promote high standards of teaching, scholarship or creative activity, foster student academic achievement and facilitate service to the College. Normally a Department Chair is appointed by the Vice President for Academic Affairs in consultation with the department faculty and the Division Chairs. (In some cases, the same person may be Division and Department Chairs.)

b. Responsibilities. Administrative duties for Department Chairs differ by the size and nature of the program(s). The Department Chair works with the Vice President for Academic Affairs or the Division Chair on common issues or problems and assists in divisional planning. As a general matter, the Department Chair duties include but are not limited to:

1) Preparing and supervising department course schedules.
2) Preparing and supervising departmental budgets.
3) Guiding discussions on the development of the teaching program of the department.
4) Assisting in hiring adjunct faculty members, when needed.
5) Coordinating with the Admission Department the efforts of the department for student recruitment.
6) Coordinating assessment of major programs and leading discussions on the assessment data to improve student learning and guide faculty development.
7) Discussing and responding to issues as requested by the Vice President for Academic Affairs or division chair.

c. Term. Department chairs normally serve three-year terms and may be reappointed. Compensation for department chairs will be determined by the Vice President for Academic Affairs.

E. COMMITTEE ORGANIZATION

Terms of service of membership on standing committees will be for two years (unless otherwise noted); no individual shall serve more than three consecutive terms on any given committee. A period of two years must intervene before an individual can be appointed to a committee that he/she served on previously for three consecutive terms of appointment. An attempt should be made to have no faculty member serve on more than one standing committee. No faculty member, however, shall serve on more than three standing committees simultaneously. Notice of appointment to standing committees, except that of the Steering Committee, are confirmed by the faculty at or before the May faculty meeting. All members of the Steering Committee are elected annually by division, at or before the May meeting.

Each of the committees has the authority to designate sub-committees from its own membership and to enlist the cooperation and assistance of faculty members and college officers not members of the committee in order to discharge its proper responsibilities. For dealing with matters which fall outside the normal jurisdiction of standing committees, ad hoc committees may be formed. Membership of the ad hoc committees shall be appointed by the Steering Committee with faculty approval. Such committees should be dissolved upon the submission and acceptance of a final report to the faculty and they should in no case extend beyond the end of the academic year succeeding the one in which the committee was constituted. Faculty members may also serve on special committees appointed by the President or Vice President for Academic Affairs of the college.
Each committee will elect a committee chairperson from its membership and organize itself as it deems most efficient for the discharging of its duties. The minutes of all faculty committee meetings must be kept and a copy of the minutes must be submitted to the Academic Affairs Office.

Committee size as mandated in the following section is to be regarded as a minimum and may be increased if necessary or appropriate. Where divisional representation is required, Fine Arts and Humanities are to be regarded as separate divisions.

The Vice President for Academic Affairs and the President shall be ex officio on all faculty standing committees where their specific membership is not noted.

1. Faculty Standing Committees

   a. Academic Affairs Committee

      i. Duties:

         A. To consider all changes in discipline offerings, academic policies, and the college calendar, and if approved, to forward them to the faculty for their approval or disapproval.

C. To participate, prior to the issuance of a contract, in the recruitment of faculty at the associate and professorial levels and in recruitment of faculty with promise of early tenure and/or promotion consideration in conjunction with the Vice President for Academic Affairs, the division chairperson, and all members of the discipline involved. For appointments at the instructor and assistant professor levels, the Vice President for Academic Affairs, the division chairperson, and the members of the discipline involved shall consult. The committee’s function in such appointments comes at the point of promotion and at that of awarding tenure. The disciplines are encouraged to utilize their majors in recruiting and interviewing all teaching candidates.
D. Changes to the Faculty Handbook may be proposed by the Faculty Affairs Committee, any duly constituted faculty or institutional committee, an individual faculty member or College administrator, the President, or the Board of Trustees. All proposed changes, except those pertaining to structure, functions, and functioning of standing committees, shall be submitted to and reviewed by the Faculty Affairs Committee for its consideration and recommendation before being forwarded to the faculty for action. Matters concerning structure, functions, and functioning of standing committees shall be sent to the Steering Committee.

Upon approval by a majority vote of the faculty, amendments shall be presented to the president for prompt transmission, with his or her recommendation, to the Board of Trustees for its consideration and possible final action. If, after such transmission, the Board has no objection to any such proposed amendment, it will be deemed adopted at the end of the Board’s next regular meeting. Notice of any objection or the deemed adoption will be given by the Chair of the Board to the President and the Vice President for Academic Affairs, who will communicate the result to the faculty.

The Faculty Handbook is intended as a codification of existing legislation and administrative policy ratified by the faculty and approved by the Board of Trustees. The Faculty Handbook, while dealing with employment policies and procedures, is not intended to provide any assurance of continued employment and should in no way be construed as an employment contract.

ii. Membership:
One faculty member from each division.

iii. Membership Qualifications:
Faculty: rank of associate professor or professor. Division chairpersons are Faculty: rank of associate professor or professor. In addition, the following guidelines are followed if possible:

      1) Faculty representatives to the Academic Committee of the Board are chosen from the faculty's Academic Affairs and Faculty Affairs Committees.
      2) Faculty representatives to the Audit and Business Committee of the Board are chosen from the faculty’s division leaders.
      3) Faculty representatives to the Student Leadership Committee of the Board are chosen from the faculty's Academic Standing Committee and Faculty Development, Student Life, and Leadership Committee.
      4) One of the faculty representatives to the Technology Committee of the Board is chosen from the faculty’s Information Liaison Committee.

3. Mace Bearer and Faculty Marshals
   The Mace Bearer and Faculty Marshal(s) are elected annually by the teaching faculty. Nominations for these positions will be made by the faculty Steering Committee with the opportunity for additional nominations from the floor.

F. FACULTY MEETINGS

Faculty meetings are held at least once each month during the academic year on the third Thursday at 11:00 a.m., unless otherwise announced. Special meetings may be called by the administration.

Faculty meetings are open only to the faculty membership and guests invited by the chair. All members are expected to attend all regularly called meetings, and the regular meeting time should be kept free of conflicting engagements. Should special situations arise which make attendance impossible, the member should notify the chair as early as convenient.

The quorum for faculty meetings will be a majority of full-time Doane-Crete faculty, excluding faculty on leave.

The chairship of faculty meetings is the responsibility of the President of the College, but he may delegate this responsibility permanently, or from time to time, to the Vice President for Academic Affairs.

The Secretary of the Faculty is designated by the Vice President for Academic Affairs and is responsible for the recording of official minutes of all official faculty meetings.
All faculty committees bringing reports requiring faculty action must distribute these reports to the faculty meeting membership at least five (5) days prior to the faculty meeting at which action will be taken; two copies should be distributed to the Chairman and the Secretary. Faculty meeting agenda are prepared in the Academic Affairs Office.

G. LEGISLATION

Legislation passed by the faculty at faculty meetings is reviewed for policy, personnel, and budget implications by the Vice President for Academic Affairs and the President. Official minutes of faculty meetings are maintained by the faculty secretaries and by the Office of Academic Affairs.

H. CRETE FACULTY FORUM

Purpose
To provide a venue in which faculty can discuss and debate matters of interest to the full faculty.

To provide a process in which the collective faculty voice can be heard for matters of interest to the full faculty.

Membership
Full-time faculty members are eligible for membership and are allowed to attend, participate, and vote in the forum. The President and members of the President’s Cabinet are ineligible for membership. All other requests for membership must be approved by the Forum Board.

Logistics
A faculty forum will be held each month of the fall and spring semesters on a date and time to be determined by the Faculty Forum Board. Additional forums can be scheduled as needed. The venue for the meeting will be decided by the moderator in consultation with the Faculty Forum Board. An announcement of a forum meeting will be sent by the Monday morning prior to the meeting.

Governing Structure
The forum’s governing structure will consist of a moderator, a moderator-elect, and a faculty board, which includes representatives from the college’s academic divisions listed: (1) Economics and Business, (2) Education/Physical Education, (3) Fine Arts, (4) Humanities, (5) Science, Mathematics, & Information Science & Technology, (6) Social Science, and (7) Academic Information Services. The moderator will lead the forum. He or she will be elected by a majority vote of the faculty in assembly. In the case of a tie vote, the moderator will cast the deciding vote. The position of moderator will be held for the period of one academic year only, and eligibility to hold that position again will not renew until at least one academic year has concluded after the previous tenure as moderator has come to an end. The moderator-elect will advance to the position of moderator for the following academic year. The moderator-elect will act as moderator if the current moderator is unavailable. All members of the faculty in assembly are eligible to hold the position of moderator except division chairs since their unique status as quasi-administrators or members of the administrative hierarchy within the college establishes the potential for conflict of interest. As the last matter of business each academic year, faculty in assembly will elect a new moderator-elect for the following year.
Members of the Faculty Forum Board representing each academic division will be elected by members of their respective academic division in assembly. Each will hold his or her position for one year only, but may renew that position, either through a vote or by acclamation, for up to one additional academic year in succession. If a member of the Faculty Forum Board has served for two academic years in a row, then he or she is ineligible to serve in the same capacity until one academic year has come to a conclusion after the end of his or her previous tenure on the board. No member of the Faculty Forum Board can be moderator, though any member of the Faculty Forum Board can give up his or her seat on the forum board for the purpose of running for the position of moderator-elect. All members of the faculty in assembly are eligible to be members of the Faculty Forum Board except division chairs for the same reason that precludes their eligibility in the case of moderator.

Forum Action

A forum will be held only if there are items on the agenda. Anyone with membership in the Faculty Forum can place an item on the agenda by first discussing the matter with his or her Faculty Forum Board representative. If the matter is deemed to be of interest to the whole faculty by a majority vote of the Faculty Forum Board, then the matter will be forwarded to the moderator who will be responsible for calling a Faculty Forum and for placing the item on the agenda. If a matter is not deemed to be of interest to the entire faculty by a majority vote of the Faculty Forum Board, then the faculty member petitioning the Faculty Forum Board has the right, at the next Faculty Forum after all current agenda business has been concluded, to petition the entire Faculty Forum to have his or her request placed on the agenda for the following forum. A majority vote by the faculty in assembly either in favor or against inclusion of the petition matter on the agenda will determine the petition’s outcome.

Members of the Faculty Forum Board who are approached by faculty with items of interest for the Faculty Forum will engage in their preliminary evaluation of the petition’s merit either by meeting as a committee or by meeting electronically. All items of interest must be brought to the forum board. If the majority agrees that the item in question should be placed on the agenda, then the member of the forum board who has been approached by the petition’s author will forward the forum board’s decision to the moderator. If the forum board decides against the petition, then the forum board member who has been approached by the petition’s author will inform the same of the forum board’s decision not to pursue the matter.

Matter for Forum Action

Two types of items may be placed on the agenda. The first is for discussion only. This type of item will be discussed and debated by the faculty in assembly. However, no action will result. Also, no minutes of the discussion and debate will be kept. Only a record of the matter as an agenda item will be noted. It is imperative that, for faculty in assembly to participate freely in the forum, all discussion and debate stay within the forum and not be made public or be used in any decisions concerning faculty members, such as annual review, promotion or tenure.

The second type of item to be placed on the forum’s agenda is for discussion and action. Items of this sort may be first introduced to the forum as items of the first type. If, however, they are distinguished as items requiring action, then a formal resolution to pursue the item as a discussion and action item will be brought forward to the forum in the form of a motion and a second in order to prepare the way for discussion and debate. At the close of discussion and debate, a vote will be taken; all forms of voting, including secret and absentee ballots, will be available. The result is based on all possible forum faculty in assembly. Minutes of the discussion will be kept. No records of individual faculty member votes will be kept. The resolution and the result of the vote (raw numbers and percentages, including abstentions) will be recorded and made public including the identification of the resolution recipient. Parliamentary procedure as used in faculty meetings will be followed.

Forum Continuity
Historical records and minutes of action items will be maintained by the current moderator. The records will include (1) a roster of all qualified faculty, (2) copies of all agendas, (3) minutes, (4) copies of all resolutions, (5) results of all votes, and (6) report of the dissemination of resolutions and results including the identification of the resolution recipient. At the end of each academic year, the historical record will be passed from the out-going moderator to the in-coming moderator-elect.
